RESEARCH

Non-Fatal Strangulation (NFS): Client Presentation Without Physical Presentation. The purpose of the research: to evaluate patients disclosing NFS, the incidence of physical injuries visualized to the neck region, subjective symptoms noted, the diagnostic intervention completed and their findings. Should all victims of (NFS) be screened and receive a complete medical evaluation including radiological testing if there are no physical findings visible to the neck region? The outcome identified NFS occurrences have the potential for high mortality and morbidity, thus the need for medical facilities to develop interventions specific to the evaluation of NFS patient to reduce the incidence of mortality, collect evidence, and to aid in holding perpetrators accountable for the crime they committed. 4/1/2017

DNA Perseverance Study (In-Progress). Johnson County Health Department and the Johnson County Crime Lab. Hypothesis: DNA from seminal fluid present of cervicovaginal specimens can be detected greater than 120 hours from incident to collection on samples collected by Forensic Health Care Providers completing evidentiary examinations on those with a disclosure of sexual assault. Study obtains swabs and smears from consenting female patients in regard to their recent and past sexual relations in the last 30 days to note the duration of time from those sexual encounters can DNA be isolated. 10/01/2010
