TYPES OF CASES

I have examined over 3500 cases in the past since 1983. I provide peer review and second opinions for other document examiners on a regular basis in addition to my cases.

Some of the cases that I have completed include comparing and identifying signatures and handwriting, identifying alterations to documents, determining substitution of pages, "reading" under whiteout, revealing indented writing, and identifying synchronous writing. Cases have involved wills, medical malpractice cases, industrial espionage, counterfeit documents, contracts, graffiti, and threatening and anonymous notes.
